The Grayling Sportsmen's Club have time ago spearheaded a drive towards a Grayling Community Building and have interested the Chamber of Commerce in the project. Quite a some of money has already been set up for the construction fund.

The Grayling Women's Club has now stepped in to lend a hand and will sponsor a basketball game followed by a dance on Saturday evening, January 26. Tickets for the affair will be available from any member of the Women's Club starting Monday.

The entire proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the Community Building Construction Fund. The need for such a building has been felt in Grayling for some time and it is hoped that a good crowd will turn out for the game and dance.

This year marks the start of a definite drive towards a community building and it is hoped that frequent fund raising affairs during the next few months that enough can be raised to start construction in the spring. Land for the building is already set, it was said.

The drive for construction funds is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and any club or group in the community who wishes to contribute direct funds or a fund raising affair to aid towards the construction, will be welcomed with open arms.

Bow Hunters Hit New Record Size

Incomplete 1931 license agent returns already show a record-size bow hunting force and indicate the almost certainty that Michigan had an all-time high number of resident fishermen for the year.

The conservation department says reports to January 1 reveal 18,616 big game archers, breaking the 1930 record high of 15,753 licensed bowmen. Nearly 136,000 annual nonresident and over 133,000 temporary nonresident fishing permits have been counted so far.

As compared to license agent returns last year at this time, resident deer hunting permits number 315,182 over four percent fewer. However small game license sales are nearly the same, 506,263, as against 567,238 tallied through the same period last year.

The Brakes Must Be Applied

W. R. Mathews, editor of the Arizona Daily Star of Tucson, recently ran a series of editorials on domestic and international problems which have received nationwide notice and praise. In the course of one of them he said, "On the subject of expenditures, a voice of moderation is needed. I insist that unless the brakes are applied, and a ceiling of $70,000,000,000 set, we will set off a spiral of inflation that will call for an extensive system of controls, and the creation of a regimented, garrison, welfare state. Planned expenditures of the next fiscal year are officially estimated at $82,000,000,000 to $85,000,000,000. The following year will almost certainly call for $100,000,000,000 unless the people of the country awaken official Washington to what is developing."

With a few honorable exceptions, official Washington has been supinely following the "spend, spend, spend; tax, tax, tax policy," which is attributed to the late Harry Hopkins. And it does not have the justification which may have attached to that policy in a time of great depression. The most prodigal non-defense spending in all our history has occurred during years in which business activity has been running at record levels, and there has been no widespread unemployment or economic distress.

The truth about inflation is that irresponsible government created it, irresponsible government is continuing it, and irresponsible government promises to give us more of it. That is one of the two greatest domestic issues of the time the other being official corruption and graft.

"Make yourself an honest man and then you may be sure there is one less rascal in the world."
